

Accessing the Pediatric Rehabilitation Intervention Measure of Engagement (PRIME) suite: A Step-By-Step Guide

The tools in the Pediatric Rehabilitation Intervention Measure of Engagement (PRIME) suite are designed to measure the engagement of children and youth, parents, and service providers involved in rehabilitation therapy. The PRIME tools were developed by an interdisciplinary group of researchers, clinicians, and family partners from across Canada, the United States, and Australia. Published tools can be downloaded, free of charge, via the Holland Bloorview Kids Rehabilitation Hospital website.

Step 1: Visit <https://hollandbloorview.ca/prime-suite> (or see clickable links below)

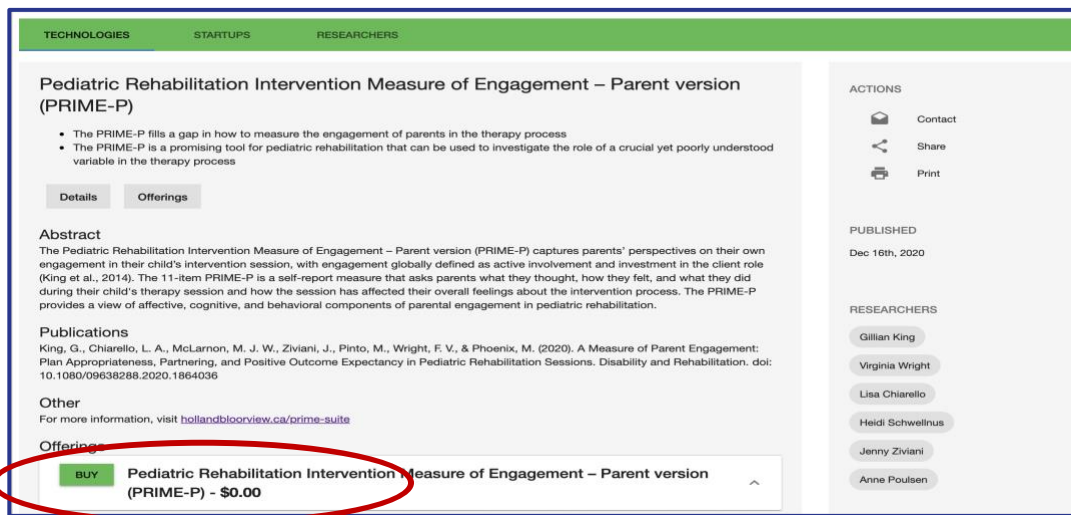

Links to read more about the PRIME-P, PRIME-SP, and PRIME-O are all listed on this page. There are links to additional pages, including a list of publications and contact information, in the right-hand sidebar.

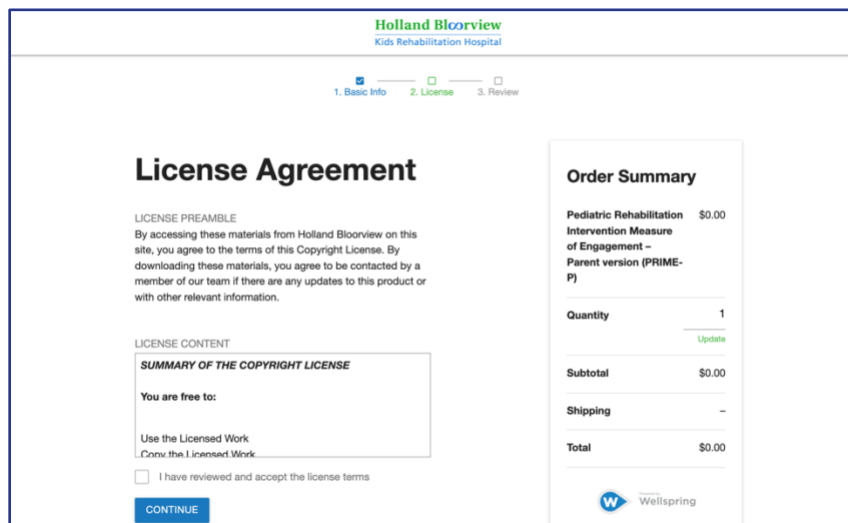

There are six measures of engagement in the PRIME suite. As of March 2022, the tools that have been published and made freely available for download include:

1. Pediatric Rehabilitation Intervention Measure of Engagement – Parent: Captures the parent’s perspective on their own engagement in a session. It is for parents who typically attend their child’s therapy sessions. Read more about the PRIME-P.
2. Pediatric Rehabilitation Intervention Measure of Engagement – Service Provider: Captures the service provider’s perspective on their client’s engagement in a session. The client could be a child/youth, a parent, or both. Read more about the PRIME-SP.
3. Pediatric Rehabilitation Intervention Measure of Engagement – Observation: Captures an observer’s ratings of engagement in a session. These are ratings of observable signs of engagement of the service provider and the client. Read more about the PRIME-O.

Step 2: Select BUY within the listing for each tool using the grey-and-green Flintbox interface.
The download is free (each item costs $0) and you do not have to provide payment information.

Step 3: Provide your name and email address in order to review and accept the license agreement.
After submitting your order, you will receive an email with a link to download the tool
